London, October 12.—

The official war news is scarce today but war office statements are not needed to make plain that momentous results hang on the fortunes of the desperate battles now being waged at vital points on the line, that stretches from Switzerland through northern France to within 25 miles of the Straits of Dover. The heaviest fighting is on the line of Lassigny and Lens.

Special attention is directed to Ostend. There have assembled the greater part of the Belgian army and about two-thirds of the British army forces that escaped from Antwerp. It is believed that Germany is pushing forward to attack the city with a hope of capturing and using the port in her operations against England. A bitter struggle to keep the Germans from the coast is inevitable. Today's reports indicate that the German cavalry advance is less than 30 miles from Ostend. The strength of the allies at Ostend is not known. It is possible that British reinforcements, which were unable to reach Antwerp in time to help in the defense of that city, are now in Ostend. Still less is known of the situation in the eastern theater of the war. Petrograd is silent on recent developments. The Russian war office explains this silence on the grounds of strategy. Vienna claims that the Russian attack on Przemyśl, in Austrian Galicia has failed. Berlin asserts that the Russian advance on the East Prussian frontier has been checked, while the Germans are steadily working eastward in Russian Poland.

Neutral sources report that cholera is spreading in Austria.

Paris, October 12.—The following official communication was given out in Paris this afternoon:

"First: On our left wing the cavalry engagements continue. In the region of La Basse, Estaires and Hazebrouck, between Arras and the Oise, the enemy endeavored to deliver several attacks, which failed, notably between Lassigny and Roye."

"Second: On the center we have made some progress on the plateaux of the right bank of the Aisne, in front of Soissons, and the east and southeast of Verdun."

"Third: On our right wing, in the Vosges, the enemy delivered a night attack in the region of Ban De Sapt, to the north of St. Die. They were repulsed."

"The flag captured yesterday belongs to the sixth regiment of active Pomeranian infantry No. 49. The brigade of marine fusiliers was engaged during all the day of October 9 and the night of October 9 and 10, against German forces and repulsed them with losses of 200 men killed and 50 prisoners. The French losses were 9 killed, 39 wounded and one missing."

"In the Belgian field, according to the latest information received here concerning the situation at Antwerp, the Germans occupy, up to the present time, only the suburb of this city. The 24 forts on the two banks of the river Escaul are resisting with energy."

"In Russia the fighting still continues with fierceness on the frontier of East Prussia. To the northwest of Lyck the Germans are retreating, at the same time destroying bridges. In southern Poland there has been artillery fighting between Ivangorod and Sandomir with columns of the enemy who have reached the Vistula."

Paris, October 12.—The progress of the campaign in the north of France, and the fall of Antwerp, were forgotten for the moment today by the people of Paris who spent their time discussing the throwing of bombs on the capital from German aeroplanes, as a result of which three persons were killed yesterday and 14 wounded. At the same time officials adopted measures looking to the prevention of similar acts in the future. The first thing done was the appointment of General Hirschauer to take charge of the aerial defense of the city. He is an aeronautic expert.

The news that one of the German bombs yesterday struck the cathedral of Notre Dame has been communicated to the Vatican. It is reported that the Pope exclaimed on getting the message, "Providence has prevented an outrage which would have shocked the world."

By Associated Press.

London, October 12.—A dispatch to Reuters Telegraph Company from Berlin, via Amsterdam, gives the following statement, which was issued last night by the German general staff:

"Our cavalry, on Saturday, completely routed a French cavalry division west of Lille, and near Hazebrouck we inflicted heavy losses on another French cavalry division. Until now the engagements of the front in the Western theater did not lead to a decision. About the booty at Antwerp, no communication can be made as information still fails. Neither can the number of British and Belgian troops, who crossed the Dutch frontier, be fixed."

"In the eastern theater we repulsed, in the north, all attacks of the first and tenth Russian armies on October 9 and 10. The Russian outflanking efforts, by way of Schirwindt, East Prussia, equally were repulsed and the Russians lost 1,000 prisoners. In south Poland the advance guards of our armies have reached the Vistula. Near Grojec, south of Warsaw, we captured 2000 men of the second Siberian army corps. The Russian official communication about a great Russian victory at Augustowo and Suwalki, Russian Poland, are invented."

GERMAN LOSS IS 45,000

By Associated Press.

London, October 12.—"It is stated that the Germans lost 45,000 men during the attack on fortresses Waelhem and Wavre-St-Catherine at Antwerp," says a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam.

ILLINOIS SECRETARY OF STATE SUICIDES

By Associated Press.

Springfield, Ill., October 12.—Secretary of State Harry Woods, one of the democratic senatorial candidates at the September primary and former operator of the Chicago board of trade, killed himself early yesterday morning. His lifeless body, with a gaping bullet wound in the center of the forehead and an automatic pistol clutched in his right hand, was discovered early today lying in the tool room in a garage at the rear of his residence by Mrs. Woods and a neighbor.

No note of explanation was left by Secretary Woods and the only clue which would give a possible indication for the cause of the tragic deed was a bulky bundle of papers, showing extensive dealings in grain through a Chicago brokerage house. Mrs. Woods could assign no motive for her husband's deed.

GERMAN VERSION OF THE ATTACK

By Associated Press.

Berlin, via wireless to Sayville, L. I., October 12.—The general staff of the German army announced today that in the beginning a very strong garrison defended Antwerp with great energy, but that after the attack by German infantry and marine divisions the defenders fled in full rout.

Among the Antwerp garrison was one British marine brigade.

AIMS BOMBS AT TRAINS

By Associated Press.

Paris, October 12.—A German aeroplane, at a quarter past ten this morning, dropped bombs between two railroad trains that were pulling out of the Northern railroad station. The missiles did not explode and were later found imbedded two feet in the earth. The railroad trains were crowded with passengers.

$300,000 FIRE LOSS

Spencer, W. Va., October 12.—The entire business district of Spencer was destroyed by fire early today with a loss of approximately $300,000. The fire started in a fruit store and spread rapidly because there was no water with which to fight the flames. Little rain has fallen throughout this section in the last two months.

Boston, October 12.—Fenway Park today staged the third game of the world series between the Boston Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans. The Philadelphia men were prepared to make a last ditch fight, as they had lost two games to Boston already.

Weather conditions were almost ideal for the game today. Indications that the crowd would reach 35,000 were apparent, meaning that receipts would amount to almost $65,000. Hundreds had stood in line all night to get into the park.

Boston went into this afternoon's game a strong favorite for the series. Manager Mack and his Athletics held a conference at their hotel last night and a change in their style of play is expected. Philadelphia has got but seven hits in the two games.

"Bullet Joe" Bush pitched for the Athletics and Tyler for the Bostonians. Philadelphia line-up: Murphy, rf; Oldring, lf; Baker, 3b; McInnis, 1b; Collins, 2b; Walsh, cf; Barry, ss; Schang, c; Bush, p.

Fenway Park, Boston, October 12.—The Athletics, champions of the American League, twice vanquished by the Boston Braves, went to grips today with the National League winners in the third battle of the world series. Some 35,000 spectators saw the Athletics make a desperate stand on the Boston's ball field to stave off a third defeat which would all but end their chances of bearing off the world championship.

Boston was plainly baseball crazed today. Hundreds swarmed all night at the gates of Fenway Park. Within an hour after the unreserved seat sections were flung open every seat was taken and scores lined the back field fences and pressed against a guard fence erected around the rear of the field in the outfield. Once the crowd broke the wooden barrier and mounted police had to drive the people back into the enclosure. Carpenters repaired the fence. All this was three hours before the game time.

An Indian summer day was furnished for the contest. The playing field was flint dry and lightning fast. Batting practice was lively and fielding practice was mechanically perfect and executed with a swiftness and brilliancy that stirred the spectators to salvos of applause. Before play was called Captain Evers, of Boston, was presented with an automobile in recognition of his being the most valuable player to his team in the National League.

ALLIES DEVELOP NEW OFFENSIVE

Now Threaten the German Hold On Belgium.

TO ATTACK LINE OF DEFENSE

Movement Designed to Free the Coast Cities From Danger, to Recapture Brussels and to Seize Railroad Lines—General Joffre's Operations Compel Germans to Extend Their West Flank.

Paris, Oct. 12.—While General Joffre's communications, always of the most general nature, reassure Paris as to the ability of the allies to hold the Germans at all points of the main battle line, there are unofficial reports that produce even more satisfaction. It can be stated that the allies are developing an offensive from an entirely new quarter.

Although the allies have been hard pressed to defend their lines from Arras southward to Soissons and eastward all the way to the Meuse and the line of Verdun-Toul, they have succeeded in mobilizing and launching independent operations that threaten the German hold on Belgium. More and more General Joffre is swinging the important actions toward the north and compelling the Germans to lengthen their west flank. More and more it becomes certain that the allies, impregnably situated along the Aisne and north of the Oise, are developing the strength to attack the German line of defense in Belgium, an attack designed to free the coast cities from danger, to recapture Brussels, to seize the railroad lines communicating with France and to force the retreat of the German armies from French territory. There would be no surprise here if the news of the coming week dealt with great battles between Ghent and Antwerp. The safety of the Belgian army is assured, and this force can now be utilized in attacks against the German flank from Ostend.

There is hope here that the allies, while pursuing their operations in Belgium and defending the line from Arras to Soissons, may yet turn the German fortified position that begins at Soissons and runs eastward to the Argonne. Slow but steady progress has been made by the allies at this point.

While the allies develop power in Belgium, General Joffre reports the situation in France to be everywhere satisfactory. German cavalry raiding toward the North sea has been repulsed at the river Lys and driven back toward Armentieres. Coincidentally, the allies made progress at the hinge of the line and are maintaining an unbroken wall to the German attempts to break through at Roye and from Caronne to Rheims. In this region the most desperate assaults have been repulsed. Eastward to the Meuse, each side attacks only with artillery, frontal advances by infantry having been abandoned.

Very definite success is reported by General Joffre in the fighting along the Meuse. The Germans have failed consistently to get a foothold on the left bank of the river, whence they could advance their heavy guns to bombard Verdun.

miles of Thorn. It is recognized here that until Russia breaks the Dantzig-Thorn line of defense her main advance against Breslau and Berlin from the south can not be prosecuted safely.

In western Poland the Russians have been compelled to slow their advance because of stubborn German opposition between Warsaw and the Prussian frontier. It is reported that the Germans are abandoning Poland, but under the brilliant leadership of General Von Hindenburg they are redoubling their efforts in southwestern Poland, where the center of interest is now the great battle progressing along the left bank of the Vistula. In spite of recurring rumors of the fall of Przemysl, it is not believed that this sole stronghold left to the Austrians in Galicia has capitulated.

FRENCH ARE VICTORIOUS

Paris, Oct. 12.—German cavalry was signally defeated in battle for the possession of positions for the crossing of the river Lys. The invaders were driven into retreat toward Armentieres. French troops were victorious in a two days' battle for the possession of the village of Apremont, east of St. Mihiel, and also on the center of the battle line, where they advanced to new positions after having repulsed a night attack of the enemy.

MACK AND STALLINGS OFFER STRONG CONTRAST AS BASEBALL MANAGERS.

Here they are, Mack and Stallings. Each is a successful baseball manager and each has succeeded along lines different from the other. Mack seldom smiles, Stallings can smile at any time. Mack does not "ride" his players. Stallings is a wild man when things are going against him. Mack depends largely on his men to decide what to do and when to do it. Stallings usually directs the details of play, tells batters when to wait, when to bunt and when to hit hard. The contrasting tactics of the two managers will be one of the most interesting features of the world's series.

WARSHIPS CANNOT FEED AT PANAMA

Washington, Oct. 12.—The use of the ports of the republic of Panama and of the Panama canal zone as bases of supply for belligerent warships, is mutually restricted by a protocol signed by Acting Secretary of State Lansing and Don Morales, minister of marine affairs. There have been cases of belligerent ships calling at the port of Panama city, which is in the republic of Panama, getting supplies and then entering the adjoining port of Balboa, which is in the Panama canal zone, and replenishing their supplies. Under the new agreement a visit of a belligerent warship to a Panama port shall deprive that vessel of the right to the hospitality of a canal zone port for the period of three months, and vice versa.

A PAINTERS' PARADISE.

Capri's Quaint Inn, Where Poor Artists Can Get Free Board.

Capri, beautiful in itself, offers an irresistible invitation to artists, since it has an inn where any one, by painting a picture on the wall, can get free board.

To the lovely island of Capri, with its perennial summer, its blue grotto and its lemon groves, came some fifty years ago a ruined artist. He opened an inn and died rich. In his will, leaving the inn to his heirs, he made these conditions:

"The charge per day, two bottles of red Capri wine included, is never to be more than 6 francs.

"If any artist is too poor to pay he shall paint a picture upon some wall space, receiving all the accommodation accorded to those paying the highest price.

"If any German artist shall come to the inn he shall be accommodated and shall receive the amount of his fare to Germany upon his promising never to return to Italy."

The inn is conducted today on these conditions. Its walls are covered with paintings. Now and then a German artist gets his fare home.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Three Ages.
The Berlin botanical gardens, says Lustige Blätter, are wonderfully beautiful, but to small children they are a forbidden paradise. Boys and girls under ten are not permitted to enter.

Herr and Frau Muller found this out to their disappointment when they planned to take their little Paul on a Sunday trip to view the beautiful gardens. Nevertheless they gave their young hopeful a few instructions and started out. At the gate the porter stopped the young Muller. "How old are you?" he inquired. Paul answered, "Six for the electric; really eight; for the botanical gardens, ten."

The Stoning of Hamilton.
Alexander Hamilton was stoned by a New York audience in the summer of 1795. While at a public meeting he was speaking in favor of the Jay treaty, which had just been negotiated by John Jay between the United States and England. Dr. Francis in his "Old New York" says that among those who did the stoning was the famous Edward Livingston, together with many other "leading citizens."

Fight On The Amendments

Events political during the week just ended justify the prediction made early in the present campaign by trained observers, that during the closing weeks of the campaign the "wet and dry" issue would take the center of the stage.

The fight on the proposed constitutional amendments precipitated by the so-called liberal forces of the state has been, day by day, forcing itself to the forefront until now it is the most talked of contest of all those to be settled by the voters in November.

The so-called liberal interests before the ink was much more than dry on printed pages of the statutes containing the license law began the agitation of an amendment which, in effect, would destroy the county unit in the local option laws of the state.

The liberal interests have never been satisfied with the present drastic liquor license law of this state. The law has many more sharp teeth in it than they supposed it would have at the time they were agitating the constitutional amendment two years ago, making the enactment of such a law possible.

When insisting on an amendment to the constitution two years ago, permitting the enactment of a license law, the liberal forces did not think that a law could or would be enacted which would put over three thousand saloons in the wet counties of Ohio out of business and bring about an honest and sincere observance in the large cities as well as the small, of the Sunday closing laws of the state.

When the full force and effect of the license law, as enforced by the present state administration was realized, the present movement for another constitutional amendment took form.

As a retaliatory measure the dry forces immediately launched the movement for a constitutional amendment providing for state-wide prohibition.

And this fight, pro and con, on these two antagonistic amendments has grown in intensity and to such proportions that it is pushing other issues off to one side.

Unless the present trend of public opinion undergoes a decided change from that at present existing, the so-called liberal forces seem certain to be overwhelmingly defeated.

Indeed, so marked has been the crystalizing of public sentiment in favor of the state-wide prohibition amendment that the liberal forces have already practically abandoned their offensive campaign and are fighting with their backs to the wall on the defensive.

The temperance forces, quick to observe the trend of sentiment are waging an aggressive fight against their enemies, have already formulated and are prepared to go forward with a speaking campaign taking the burden of offensive battle on their own shoulders.

The fight which was begun by the liberals with the temperance forces on the defensive has undergone a remarkable change and with the election three weeks off the voters of the state see the first aggressors on the defensive and the attacked carrying the fight into the enemy's country.

Two years ago the voters of the state amended the constitution so as to make possible additional regulation of the saloon in the wet counties of the state, and they are decidedly out of patience with the forces who precipitated the present contest.

The people of Ohio are sick and tired of the wet and dry fight coming up at regular intervals and it would not be surprising if an overwhelming defeat is the reward of the forces who launched the present contest.

Poetry For Today

THE VICTOR

The live man victorious
Rode spurring from the fight;
In a glad voice and glorious
He sang of his delight.
And dead men three, foot-loose and free,
Came after in the night.
And one laid hand on his bridle rein—
Swift as the steed he sped,
"Oh, ride you fast, yet at the last,
Hate faster rides," he said.
"My sons shall know their father's foe
One day when blades are red."

And one laid hand on his stirrup bar
Like touch o' driven mist.
"For joy you slew ere joy I knew,
For one girl's mouth unvisited,
bed,
My pale ghost shall persist."

And one laid hands on his own two hands,
"O brother o' mine," quoth he,
"What can I give to you who live
Like gift you gave to me?
Since from grief and strife and ache
o' life
Your sword stroke made me free."

The live man victorious
Rode spurring from the fight;
In a glad voice and glorious
He sang of his delight.
And dead men three, foot-loose and free,
Came after in the night.

VIVID STORIES OF SUBMARINE ONSET

Told by Survivors of Lost British Cruisers.

SPLENDID HEROISM SHOWN.

Men Fighting For Their Lives In the Sea After Torpedoes' Deadly Work Shouted Cheering Messages to One Another—"Germans Came Right Up Under Noses of Our Guns."

Survivors tell graphic stories of the destruction of the British armored cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy. Describing the sinking of the Cressy Chief Gunner Dougherty said:

"Suddenly I heard a great crash and saw the Aboukir heeling over and going down rapidly. We came to the conclusion that she had been struck by a torpedo, and kept a sharp lookout for these craft while steaming to the assistance of the Aboukir."

"The Hogue was also closing up toward the sinking ship with the object of assisting the crew, who were dropping into the water, when we heard a second crash. As the Hogue began to settle we knew that she also had been torpedoed."

"As we drew near, some one shouted to me, 'Look out, sir, there's a submarine on our port beam!'"
"She was about 400 yards away. I took careful aim at her and she disappeared. Up she came again so I fired my third shot and smashed in the top of the conning tower."

Let Out a Great Shout of Joy.
"The men standing by shouted, 'She's hit, sir!' and then they let out a great cheer as the submarine sank, and while she was going down two German sailors floated up from her, both swimming hard."

"After that we shot at a trawler which was 1,000 yards away and evidently a German boat in disguise, directing operations. We hit her with the first shot and set her on fire."

"By this time we already had been struck by one torpedo, but the damage was not in a vital spot and we should have kept afloat all right. We saw another submarine on our starboard side and made a desperate effort to get her, but failed, and her torpedo got home in our engine room."

"Then the Cressy began to turn over, and this I will say for the men," said Mr. Dougherty proudly, "they acted like British sailors, and those who died died as a Briton should."

"Our captain was on the bridge, and in these critical minutes he spoke some words of advice to the crew. 'Keep cool, my lads, keep cool,' he said in a steady voice. 'Pick up a spar, my lads, and put it under your arm. That'll help you to keep afloat until the destroyers pick you up.'"

Water Thick With Drowning Men.
"They were discharging torpedoes at us while the water was thick with drowning men. When I dropped into the sea, clinging to a bit of wood, there were men all around me. We shouted cheering messages to one another. I was afloat for four hours."

Says a Mulden, Holland, dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle:

"The men of the Aboukir afloat in the water hoped for everything from the arrival of her sister cruisers, and all survivors agree that when these also sank many gave up the struggle for life and went down. An officer told me that when swimming, after having lost his jacket in the grip of a drowning man, his chief thought was that the Germans had succeeded in sinking only three comparatively obsolete cruisers which shortly would have been scrapped anyway."

"Twenty-four men were saved on a target which floated off the Hogue's deck. The men were gathered on it for four hours waist deep in water."

"The daring of those Germans was amazing. They must have seen us a long way off. We could not see them, and they came right up under the noses of our guns."

MEXICO'S NEW REVOLUTION.

Villa's Plans For March on Mexico City to Oust Carranza.

Now that General Villa has definitely broken with General Carranza and announced that he will fight to the last Torreon becomes the center of interest in the new war in Mexico. It is at Torreon that Villa expects the big battle, and he is preparing that city for a vigorous defense and a possible siege. All troops ordered to Sonora by Villa have been recalled and are being hurried to the south. All troops in Chihuahua City are being sent to Torreon, and every garrison in the north is being stripped of men to mobilize at Torreon the greatest army that Villa has put into the field. Villa has made plans for an immediate movement against Mexico City.

Villa holds all northern Mexico and in this position has advantages which will count seriously against Carranza. Villa will be able to control the rail communication with the United States.

GEORGIA BLOODHOUNDS.

Keen Scent Enables Them to Perform Almost Incredible Feats.

What the Georgia bloodhound can do seems almost incredible. A convict sleeping in one bunk of a hundred, shod and clad precisely as the hundred convicts about him, may slip his chain and flee. Ten miles away he may meet his fellow prisoners again, may run to and fro among them or walk with them a mile and leave them.

Six hours after these hounds, put on his track where he slipped the camp, will follow him to where he met his gang, will tread his track in and about with hundreds of tracks, take it up where he leaves them and run him down though he cross convict gangs every mile he runs.

This escaping convict, clad in stripes cut from the same bolt with a hundred others, may run through the woods, touching weeds and bushes as he runs. Fifty other convicts may run through the same woods in every direction. The dogs will hold his scent, running full tilt, breast high. If he makes a curve of forty-five degrees the dogs will not run the line, but will catch his scent thirty yards away and across the angle, though it were filled with the convicts who had eaten and slept with the fugitive.

Often a dog will carry a scent in a gallop, running parallel thirty yards to the windward. An uncanny and terrible little beast is the red bone hound, trained for the hunting of man.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

GRAIN CARNIVAL WILL BE HELD HERE IN DECEMBER

Fayette County Crop Improvement Association Announces Biggest Grain Show Ever Held in City, 17th, 18th and 19th of December—Committee Now Working on Plans.

It will be good news to Washington business men and all citizens of the county in general to know that the Fayette County Crop Improvement Association has announced one of the biggest grain carnivals ever held in this city, and that plans are now being formulated to make the exhibition a splendid success in every way.

The carnival is to be held in some appropriate place in this city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 17th, 18th and 19th, and the exhibits will not be confined to all kinds of corn, but will include wheat, rye, oats and all other small grains, so that Mr. Farmer can now begin to select the best he has to contest for the blue ribbons and liberal prizes which are to be awarded for the various grains.

Under present arrangements the entries close on December 16th, at 12 o'clock, and all entries must be in the hands of the committee by that time or cannot be entered in the battle for blue ribbons.

The carnival was planned Saturday afternoon when quite a number of the "live wires" in the Fayette County Crop Improvement Association met at the Washington Savings bank and made arrangements for the big event. A committee was named to make arrangements for the carnival, and prepared a program.

The various classes will be open to anyone in Fayette county, and one class in each variety of corn will be open to anyone in the United States—but there is little likelihood of corn growers outside of this county walking off with any of the prizes, as the corn growers of Fayette are recognized as being able to show corn equal to the best anywhere.

With the announcement that the carnival is to be held here, Washington business men will have an opportunity to show the merchants of other towns that a big list of premiums will be offered that will guarantee a large list of entries in all classes, and make the event a really big one.

At the present time the Fayette Co. Crop Improvement Assn. consists of about 25 of the best men who are interested in agriculture, and the list is growing.

The officers of the Association are: F. M. Kennedy, president; F. W. Cline, vice president; C. U. Armstrong, treasurer; Glenn H. Brock, Secretary.

them in the list of farmers who raise pure corn and more of it.

It will be recalled that at the National corn show Paint township farmers carried off three first premiums, Mr. F. W. Cline winning on the best ten ears of white corn shown at the National exhibition.

REV. A. H. ZEICHIEL TO SPEND WEEK HERE

Rev. A. H. Zeichiel, of Freemont, Ohio, will arrive Saturday to spend a week campaigning in this county in the interests of the Prohibition amendment.

Rev. Zeichiel is former Superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, and a speaker of more than ordinary ability.

Saturday night he will speak in this city; Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church, Bloomingburg; Sunday night at the Baptist church in this city; Monday night at Jeffersonville; Tuesday night, Milledgeville; Wednesday night, Good Hope; Thursday night, Madison Mills and Friday night at New Martinsburg.

Rev. Zeichiel is sent here by the Presbyterian Board of Temperance.

FAYETTE CATTLE GO TO EUROPE

Mr. Thomas Junk, of near Cisco, this county, has sold 250 head of fat cattle to Alex. Thompson, and the big herd will be shipped from Cisco the latter part of this week, and will be sent to England, or France, where they will furnish food for the soldiers engaged in the European war.

The cattle average about 1400 pounds, and are said to have brought 9 cents per pound.

It is one of the largest herds of cattle to leave Fayette county in a number of years, and unusual interest is added to the shipment because the cattle are to be exported, and may be captured by some hostile craft while in transit.

GREAT CONVENTION

A communication from Rev. Bowman Hostetler, from Atlanta, Georgia states that the International convention of the Christian church is well under way, and is proving a delightful meeting.

Rev. Hostetler states that on his way home he will stop for a short visit at historic Chatanooga, Tenn.

XENIA WINS ON GRIDIRON

Washington Loses in the Face of Determined Defense—Hard Play of Locals Prevent Heavy Scoring—Result, 12 to 0—South Charleston Here Saturday.

Outweighed and sorely pressed, but struggling valiantly every foot of the way, Washington high school played the part of the worthy vanquished on the Xenia high gridiron Saturday afternoon. The score of 12 to 0 might have been much worse had the locals showed any inclination to give an inch more than necessary in their plucky, if powerless defense.

Time and again the brilliant and systematic onslaughts of Washington fell flat before the brick wall defense of the Xenians, and time and again the warriors of the blue and white loyally dug their grimy countenances in the mud to curb for an instant the crushing advance of the enemy.

Captain Pine, himself, played the game of the true leader and held his men to their best even in the face of a certain defeat.

Next Saturday the locals will play at home against South Charleston.

The line-up at Xenia was as follows: Boylon, le; Rodgers, lt; Ferguson, lg; Strevey, c; Beck, rg; Wetzel, rt; Mayer, re; Pine, qb; Craig, lb; McFadden, fb; McDonald, rbb.

A number of Washington rooters accompanied the expedition.

ADMITS HE SOLD MORTGAGED HORSE

John McKane, the man arrested a few days ago for selling a mortgaged horse, and who claimed the animal died, admitted to Chief Moore Monday morning that he had sold the horse to a man near Portsmouth.

Arrangements have been set on foot to compromise the case, it is understood, and if the case is not settled by payment of the mortgage, or other satisfactory adjustment, the charges are to be prosecuted to the end.

PONY FAIRYLAND FROM GREENFIELD

Young and old alike will have an opportunity of visiting Irwin W. Dunlap's famous pony farm, at Greenfield, tonight, when "Pony Fairyland", showing 450 Shetland ponies on the Dunlap farm, will be thrown on the screen at the Wonderland.

One hundred children take part in the "movies", and no expense was spared to make the pictures really, truly "Pony Fairyland".

NOTED LECTURER HERE NEXT WEEK

Dr. John B. Koehue, one of the most eminent lecturers ever appearing in this city, will give a series of lectures here next week, beginning Wednesday evening, October 21st, at the Presbyterian church.

The series of lectures will be given on the general topic of "Jesus, the Christ of God". The Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist churches are uniting in the services.

TEACHERS WILL MEET HERE FRIDAY

Supt. Hartman will preside over the meeting, and County Supt. Frank M. Allen, will be present.

DALE

Have you a "little furnace" in your stove?

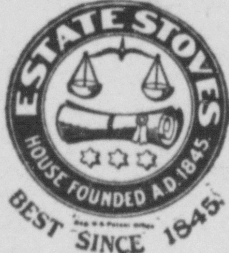

YES!—if it's an Estate-Hot Storm. Otherwise—no! For the wonderful little furnace is an exclusive and patented feature of the Estate Hot Storm's construction.

While the stove is working overtime, radiating its heat upward, and downward, and every which way, the little furnace inside is shooting an enormous volume of pure hot air into the room.

Hardly seems possible for a stove to do so much work as the

does—and to do it so nicely, without any smoke or gas getting into the room, without any puffing or exploding, without requiring any attention whatever except to put in some coal every day or two.

Make up your mind to "Own an Estate" this season, and make it an Estate Hot Storm—"the stove with a little furnace in it."

See it here at our store.

DEMORALIZED THE ENEMY.

An Unexpected Charge That Resulted in Rout and Annihilation.

There have been many curious bits of strategy in warfare, but none more effective than the coup of the Tercelans when threatened by the Spaniards.

Early in the morning of the 25th day of July, 1581, the inhabitants of the village of St. Sebastian, Isle of Terceira, one of the Azores or western group, were alarmed at the sight of a squadron, consisting of seven large Spanish war galleons, anchored off the little bay at Salga, the operations for landing a hostile force being actually in progress.

Hastily summoning some companies of militia and collecting behind a neighboring knoll a large herd of semi-wild cattle from the neighboring pastures, the islanders quietly awaited the massing of the Spaniards on the beach.

When this had been accomplished, the Tercelans advanced close up to the foe, as if to the attack, when, suddenly opening out into two long columns and leaving a wide, open space between, the numerous cattle were sent thundering down the center, goaded on by pincudors on horseback. So unusual and unexpected a charge threw the Spaniards into complete disorder, and, being at once set upon by the islanders, scarcely a man escaped to the ships, several guns which had been landed falling as spoil to the conquerors.—Exchange.

The Test of Art.

Where the weakness of the artistic life really lies is that it is often not taken up out of mere communicativeness and happy excitement, as a child tells a breathless tale, but as a device for attracting the notice and earning the applause of the world, and then it is on a par with all other self-regarding activities. But if it is taken up with a desire to give rather than to receive as an irrepressible sharing of delight it becomes not a solemn and dignified affair, but just one of the most beautiful and uncalculating impulses in the world.—A. C. Benson in Century Magazine.

That man is learned who reduces his learning to practice.—Hippodamus.

IT'S A POOR RULE, ETC.

In Which Juvenile Logic Comes to the Front in Unexpected Fashion.

Who can tell the working of children's minds or how, all unwittingly, we may make ourselves appear unjust in our dealings toward them?

This was brought home to Mr. Heewit the other day as he took his young hopeful, aged six, for a constitutional. The youngster was evidently thinking hard, for he was silent—which was unusual.

"Daddy," he said, looking up suddenly, "I think I want to get married!"

"Do you, my son? And who to, may I ask?" answered the proud parent, looking at him.

"I want to marry granny."

"Do you, indeed? And do you think I would let you marry my mother—eh?"

"Well, why shouldn't I?" retorted the tender logician. "You married mine, didn't you?"—London Answers.

Histrionic Requirements.

"There is no reason for mentioning your name," said the eminent player. "You are a press agent; not an actor."

"Believe me," replied Mr. Boastington, "a press agent has to be some actor to convince a star that he believes all the things he hammers out on the typewriter."—Washington Star.

Old Forts of Antwerp.

As long ago as 1641 an English traveler to Antwerp was impressed by the extensive character of its fortifications. "The gaffs, ramparts and platforms are stupendous," writes John Evelyn in his diary. "But there was nothing about this city which more ravished me than those delicious shades and walks of stately trees, which render the fortified works of the town one of the sweetest places in Europe; nor did I ever observe a more quiet, clean, elegantly built and civil place than this magnificent and famous city of Antwerp."

Misses Elizabeth McLaren and Elizabeth Little in dainty gowns of white messaline with garnitures of pink held the white ribbons, making an aisle for the bride, who entered the parlor with her brother, Dr. Robert Mussey, of Rochester, Minn. GERMANS COVET RIVER SCHELDT

Want Holland to Relinquish Control of Stream's Mouth.

SEEK NAVAL AND AIRSHIP BASE

Fall of Antwerp Places Holland squarely between the millstones of British and German interests—Violation of Neutrality Would Involve the Dutch in the War—Their Sympathy With the Kaiser.

London, Oct. 12.—The fall of Antwerp places Holland squarely between the millstones of British and German interests. For Antwerp to be of any use to Germany as a base for naval or aerial operations against England, the Kaiser must control the mouth of the Scheldt, which is altogether in Dutch hands. There is reliable information that Germany is urging the Dutch government to relinquish that control. Such diplomatic success by Germany would be a direct violation of the neutrality of Holland, as provocative to England as the military seizure of Belgium and as certain to be fraught with tremendous consequences.

The attitude of the Dutch government becomes, therefore, of intense interest. Despite assertions by Dutch politicians that the majority of the people of Holland favor the cause of the allies and are determined to hold their government to strict neutrality, there have been ominous signs that the sympathies of Holland are actually with Germany and that Germany has been receiving supplies through Dutch ports in spite of the protests.

tions of the Dutch leaders. It is not too much to say that submission by Holland to German persuasion or force would come at the British government to instant action, action that might easily involve the Dutch nation in the war. The crisis is as delicate and as charged with explosive factors as can readily be imagined.

Dutch newspapers quote German newspapers as saying that with Antwerp in the hands of the Germans the port will be available as a subsidiary naval base against England, and that the operations will take on a new form. These hints, from a variety of sources, all tend to show the gravity of the situation. There are racial, commercial and historic reasons which might impel the Dutch to side with Germany if a decision was unavoidable. Queen Wilhelmina's consort, Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, is thoroughly German. The royal house of Holland is of Germanic origin.

There are ancient and modern causes for Dutch antipathy to England and France. It forced into the conflict, Holland could make a formidable showing. It is estimated that she could arm and employ perhaps 400,000 men. Her peace strength is approximately 125,000 soldiers with 152 guns. The navy consists of ten small battleships, four cruisers, a small river monitor, forty-seven torpedo boats, eight destroyers, six submarines and a number of gunboats.

GERMANS GOVERN BELGIAN CITY

Rotterdam, Oct. 12.—The mayor of Antwerp and a few of the inhabitants were the only persons who remained in the city to await the Germans. The mayor went to meet a deputation of Germans which had been sent to state the conditions of surrender. The Germans agreed that males between the ages of 18 and 30 should not be put under restraint and that the civil guard should not be made prisoners of war. A war tax of $125,000 was demanded. Baron Von Der Schuetz was appointed governor and he has already announced that all the inhabitants are at liberty to return to their homes. The destruction wrought by the bombardment of Antwerp, except in the district of which the South station is the center, is comparatively small.

GERMANS MARCH AGAINST OSTEND

London, Oct. 12.—German troops are advancing swiftly toward Ostend, hoping to capture the city by a sudden attack and make prisoners of King Albert and the Belgian government officials. Strong British reinforcements have permitted the Belgian army to pass Ghent intact to effect a consolidation with the allies. Twenty thousand Germans marching westward were defeated near Termonde by a large force of French and British.

Belgian, British and French armies took positions on a new battle line southeast of Ostend for the defense of that city and for a resumption of offensive operations against the German lines of communication in Belgium.

DROP BOMBS ON PARIS

Paris, Oct. 12.—German aviators dropped twenty bombs into various districts of Paris, killing three persons and wounding fourteen others. The Germans flew over the city at a very low altitude for an hour. After the attacking aeroplanes apparently had exhausted their supply of missiles, French aeroplanes ascended and pursued them, chasing the Germans toward the east. Two hostile aeroplanes appeared at the same time. One dropped a bomb on the roof of the cathedral of Notre Dame, but the missile did not explode. Another fell near the northern railway terminal, and a third in Rue St. Lazare.

DISCOVERER OF AMERICA IS MORE GENERALLY HONORED AS YEARS PASS

Columbus day, October 12, is more generally observed each year. Twenty-four states have made the anniversary of the date on which Columbus first sighted land a legal holiday, and many cities on the American continent have monuments to the great discoverer or have named streets in his honor. South America also recognizes the debt to the Italian navigator, Columbus day being generally observed in Brazil, Colombia, Peru, Panama and Costa Rica.

FIRE RETURNED BY AMERICANS

Contending Mexican Armies Hurl Shells Across Border.

BELLIGERENTS' GUNS SILENCED

Troops of Ninth United States Cavalry Reply When Bullets Are Directed Into Their Positions at Naco, Arizona—Five Hundred Yaquis, Who Crossed Border, Are Disarmed and Sent Back to Mexico.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 12.—After cannon and rifle balls had fallen into Naco, Ariz., from the contending Mexican armies in Naco, Sonora, American troops of the Ninth United States Cavalry returned the fire. The American troops were ordered by their commander, Lieutenant Drake, to return the fire after the Yaqui Indians of Governor Maytorena had fired apparently directly into the trenches occupied by the United States troops, who are negroes.

The American fire immediately quieted the guns of the Mexicans. The Americans fired about 100 shots.

The fire from the Yaqui ditches and from the concealed Indians advancing on the city was directed into the position of the American troops at the stock yards at the east end of the town of Naco. They were subjected to great danger due to the proximity of the fire and the number of bullets which hit the embankment, the only protection they possessed. They were ordered by their commanding officer to return the fire, the instructions issued by the war department authorizing the American troops to fire upon attacking troops when subjected to imminent danger.

The fire from the Hill forces and from the Yaquis was in turn sent in the direction of the American positions. However, the fire of the Yaquis was so much more effective that the American troops were ordered to reply. The Hill bullets were never of such a character as to subject the American soldiers to much danger. According to the officers of the American troops on the border, it is not thought further steps will be required.

The hardest attack Maytorena's Yaquis have yet made upon the Carranza men is, the trenches took place preceding the firing by the American troops. Five hundred of Maytorena's Indians crossed the international line into Arizona to attack the Hill troops from the east and were immediately disarmed and placed under arrest by the United States troops. Later they were sent across the border into Mexico.

The Maytorena men lost at least fifty killed and many wounded in the attack against the Hill trenches. Hill claims to have lost eight men killed and a few wounded.

During the engagement four cannon shells fell into the town of Naco, Ariz.; one shell wrecked a residence, another exploded near the United States custom house, a third fell in a field and the fourth struck the warehouse of a mercantile establishment.

SAVED BY A WAGER.

Doomed by the Surgeons, Hay Bet He Would Live, and He Did.

When Colonel Hay, notorious for his love of gambling and betting, was severely wounded in the Peninsular war two brother officers came across his apparently lifeless body.

"Poor Hay! He's gone at last," said one named Winsor.

A faint voice came from the ground. "I'll lay you a hundred he's not." His death seemed only a question of minutes, but he continued, "Enter the bet, and you, Marston"—addressing the other officer—"be witness."

He then fainted. When he was taken to the hospital the surgeon told him the bullet could only be removed by sawing through two ribs and introducing a child's hand to extract it, as forceps could not touch it. "The chances are," he added, "that you will die under the operation."

"If Winsor will make his bet double or quits I'll consent," said the colonel.

Winsor agreed.

"Now saw away," said Hay. "I won't die." And he did not.

"But for that bet," he said afterward, "I should be a dead man. It was my determination to win it that kept me alive."—Pearson's Weekly.

W. T. Hutchens, Nicholson, Ga., had a severe attack of rheumatism. His feet, ankles and joints were swollen, and moving about was very painful. He was certainly in a bad way when he started to take Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "Just a few doses made me feel better, and now my pains and rheumatism are all gone and I sleep all night long." FAST TRAIN CRUSHED BY HUGE STONE

Falls From Precipice and Strikes Passenger Train.

Denver, Oct. 12.—Dropping 100 feet from a precipice, a twenty-ton boulder crashed down upon a flying Denver and Rio Grande train, eighteen miles east of Grand Junction, killing three persons and seriously injuring fourteen more. The boulder fell with such force that it crushed a steel car and flattened a score of men, women and children passengers. A smaller boulder first descended, severing the coupling between the engine tender and smoker. A second later the large rock fell, crashing through the car, and shattered it to bits. A large amount of wreckage was thrown into the Grande river, ten feet from the tracks.

Among the dead are Harry Bradlock of Chicago and Thomas C. Linkens of Grand Junction. Relief trains were hurried to the scene of the disaster and the prompt relief given undoubtedly saved the lives of many women and children. The third man killed was later identified as H. R. Hollingsbery of Pueblo.

It was Mrs. Malloon's birthday, and she felt a little disappointed that there was no gift beside her plate. It was the first time in twenty years that her husband had forgotten the occasion. Mr. Malloon smiled at her frankly.

"My dear," he said, "I have been so busy lately that I have not had time to buy you a birthday gift, but I'll give you the cow."

She thanked him graciously. "Daisy is a beautiful cow," she said.

Two months later Mr. Malloon's birthday came round. When he appeared at breakfast his wife greeted him with a radiant smile. "My dear," she said, "I have been so busy lately sewing for the children that I haven't had time to make you a birthday gift, but I'll give you the cow."—Chicago News.

VICTIMS OF WAR

Rome, Oct. 12.—The death of Cardinal Ferrata, papal secretary of state, has temporarily ended the Vatican's peace negotiations, which had already begun with the powers at war, says the Tribune. "The appalling tragedy now waging in Europe may have been the last blow to the heart of aged King Charles of Roumania. Also the relatives and intimate friends of Cardinal Ferrata say that the origin of his illness was due to excessive work in his attempt to master the situation and co-operate with the pope in trying to end the conflict. Thus the illustrious victims of the war, among the noncombatants number already a pope, a king and a cardinal, the papal secretary of state."

GEORGE TYLER WILL CERTAINLY PITCH ONE WORLD'S SERIES GAME

George Tyler, a member of Stallings' pitching trio that lifted the Boston Braves to the championship of the National league, will be twenty-five years old December 14. He was born in Derry, N. Y. He is the left-handed member of the trio. This is his fourth season with the Braves, so he is the oldest pitcher in point of service on the team. He did not show any surprising form last year, but this year he has been successful, winning eighteen and losing thirteen. Late in the season he seemed to be less effective, too much work having apparently weakened him. With the rest he has had recently he should be in good form for tackling the Athletics.

JOHNSON CAN'T SEE THE BOSTONS BRAVES GIVEN WARM WELCOME

New York, Oct. 12.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, predicts ultimate victory for the Athletics. "Boston caught the Athletics in a slump," said Ban, "but that will not last throughout the series. Mark my words, Mark's team hasn't gone back. I was surprised that Connie opened the series with Bender and followed with Plank; though every one must admit that Plank pitched a beautiful game Saturday; one that would have won ninety-nine times in a hundred. When he told me that he was going to use the Indian it struck me that a young pitcher might have been better. His young pitchers, and not Bender and Plank, won the pennant for Connie this year."

Charles Deal, third baseman for the Boston Braves, gets into the world's series because of the unfortunate accident to J. Carlisle Smith, who broke his leg in a game with Brooklyn the last day of the season. Deal is perhaps a livelier fielder than Smith, but he is not so good a batter. He played third base regularly before Smith was added to the Boston team in August, since which time he has rested, and one troublesome leg has had a chance to become strong.

MOTHER AND BABES DEAD

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 12.—Walter Mitchell, Jr., nine; Clermont Mitchell, five, children of Walter Mitchell, a farmer of Farmington, Conn., and his wife, Mrs. Julia Mitchell, are dead, and another child, Edward, seven, is in a critical condition at the Hartford hospital, as a result of horrible burns caused when young Walters' clothing caught fire while he was starting a fire in the kitchen range with kerosene oil. The mother and two dead boys were trying to smother the flames when their own clothing ignited.

DIDN'T TAKE THE HOLE.

But That Was Probably Because the Court Said They Shouldn't. An amusing instance of legal sharp practice is set forth in the annals of Westerly, R. I. It occurred a hundred years ago, when, it seems, lawyers were quite as adroit at quibbling as certain of their successors are today.

A farmer of broken fortunes hired for cultivation a piece of land, agreeing to pay for the use thereof with a certain proportion of the crop. He planted potatoes and had an unusual degree of success. Being without a storeroom, he obtained the consent of a neighboring landholder and deposited his share of the potatoes in what farmers call a potato hole—that is, an excavation in the earth in which the potatoes are placed and covered with earth and straw in the form of a pyramid.

Shortly afterward he had occasion to go to Connecticut, and one of his creditors seized the opportunity to attach the potato hole.

Upon this another creditor bestirred himself and consulted a lawyer as to what could be done to secure his claim. The attorney was equal to the occasion. He secured the issuing of a second writ, by which an attachment was levied upon the potatoes in the potato hole, the documents specifically setting forth that the potato hole should be left upon the land where it was found.

The warrant was promptly served, and when the first creditor appeared upon the scene he found the potato hole, but not the potatoes.—Case and Comment.

NEW YEAR'S IN CHINA.

When All Debts Are Paid and the Whole Country "Painted Red."

New Year's is the national pay day in China. All accounts must be squared up at that time, and the man who can't raise money enough to pay his debts has to go into bankruptcy. The laws are such that the creditor can enter the debtor's house and take what he pleases if there is no settlement. To prevent such action families club together and make all sorts of compromises to keep up the business reputation of the clan.

New Year's is a great day for the pawnbrokers. Their shops are crowded with people who want to redeem their best clothes before the new year. There are crowds, also, who want to pawn other things in order to get money to pay their debts. Pawnbrokers receive high rates of interest, in which they are protected by the government.

The Chinese paint the whole country red, figuratively speaking, on New Year's day in more senses than one. Red is the color which with them denotes good luck and prosperity, and all the New Year cards and invitations are on paper of that color. Every child gets its New Year's present wrapped in red paper, and red inscriptions are posted over the doors of the houses.

These inscriptions bear characters praying for good fortune, wealth and happiness, and they are posted on each side of the outer doors of the houses. New pictures of Chinese generals are put on the front doors, and the houses are-scoured and made clean.—Exchange.

JONES' HOMER SETTLES HASH

And Greenfield Goes Home With Short End of 4 to 3 Score—Reno, in Box for Visitors, Does Good Work—Cotterill's Slab Work a Feature—Athletics at Wilmington Sunday.

Nip Jones' four timer in the seventh inning Sunday afternoon settled the dispute between the local club and Frank Doyle's Greenfield bunch and wiped out the tie of 6 to 6 resulting from the game a few weeks ago. With the score 3 to 3, the bases empty and two down, Nippy caught Reno's high one on the end of his club and after a long flight it landed a few inches from the center-left canvas, rolling under to make sure. The final score was 4 to 3, favoring Washington.

A large crowd saw the game. Fetherland opened at the slab for Greenfield, being relieved by Reno, who came in from the right-field. The former Washington twirler, who recently severed connection with the Athletics, was up to his old form and, with the exception of Jones' slam, held his old team-mates down to few and short hits. Cotterill, on the mound for the Athletics, had a little difficulty in getting his wing in order, with the result that the visitors put two over in the first, but from the second on he had them puzzled completely. Corwin's fielding was sensational.

Good fielding and careful team work on both sides made the game one of the tightest of the season.

Next Sunday the Athletics go to Wilmington and the Sunday following will play that team here.

POSTER IN BERLIN SHOW SIZE OF SHELLS FIRED BY SIEGE GUNS

This is a picture of a broadsheet published in Berlin, where it is said to have been widely sold. It is a full size reproduction of the 16.4 inch shell thrown by the great German siege guns, which were first used so effectively in smashing the Liege forts. The legend at the top of the poster means "German War Surprise, 1914." The sheet is labeled "Our 42-C Bomb" and bears the names of Liege, Namur, Longwy and Maubeuge, Belgian and French fortresses, with the dates of their fall and pictures of the ruins. Below is the motto "With God for King and Fatherland." The sheet is held by a man to show the relative size of the shell.

It was a very fashionable concert and the artists very well known ones, but the two young things were too busy with picking out their peculiarities to hear the music.

In the midst of a beautiful selection the pianist suddenly lifted his hands from the keys and one of the young things was heard to say clearly: "I wonder if that hair is his own?" The old man who sat beside her was slightly deaf, but he turned with a benevolent smile.

"No, miss," he imparted pleasantly; "that is Schubert's." —Philadelphia Press.

Changed Their Minds.

"I suppose your education was a matter of great care to your parents." "Yes," replied Miss Chavonne. "I recall that they had great difficulty teaching me to play the piano. And then they had still more persuading me not to." —Washington Star.

GUARDING AN ARMY

Order of Advance of a Division on the March.

TACTICS IN TIME OF BATTLE.

Careful and Elaborate Disposition of the Detached Troops to Secure the Main Body Against Surprise—The Flanks and the Rear Guard.

"The civilian in reading stories of battles and accounts of marches and attacks by an army in times of war finds many expressions that he does not clearly understand—such, for instance, as references to independent cavalry, the advance guard, advance cavalry, point and flank patrols, the support, the reserve, the main body, flank guard and rear guards—and it is reasonable to believe that there is confusion in many minds as to significance and relation of these things," said an army officer.

"Let us assume that a division is on the march, and, by the way, a division is the basis in the United States organization for the mobile army and is a unit made up of all necessary arms and services complete for independent action incident to ordinary operations. "One or two marches ahead goes the independent cavalry, which seeks to check the enemy's cavalry and send back information as to the enemy's movements and his intentions. This cavalry is so far to the front that it could not prevent the enemy slipping in between it and the following army and could not prevent the enemy's patrol from observing the movement of the troops. Thus other precautions are taken, and one or two marches behind the independent cavalry marches the advance guard.

"First in the advance guard is the advance cavalry, commonly one squadron, which sends ahead a point or leading patrol and sends on both sides paralleling the line of march small bodies called flanking patrols. All this is to clear the country of the enemy or give timely notice of his approach or his presence. Four or five miles in the rear of the leading patrol rides the advance party of the advance cavalry.

SIX DROWN

By Associated Press.

Washington, October 12.—A radio telegram to the revenue cutter service today from the commander of the Behring Sea fleet, reported the drowning of Assistant Surgeon L. W. Jenkins, L. H. S., and five other men, when a boat from the cutter, Manning, swamped Saturday in Unalga Pass, off Cape Siches.

Running No Chances.

A lady entertaining an important guest was giving final instructions to her new maid just arrived from the country.

"Now, Polly," she said, "in the morning take a jug of hot water up to Mr. Chumleigh's room. Be sure not to forget it."

The lady thought no more of the matter until the next day, when at noon she remarked casually: "You took that hot water up to Mr. Chumleigh's room this morning, I suppose?"

Polly beamed.

"Why, yes, mum, I was so frightened I'd forget it I took it up overnight!" —London Standard.
